OVERVIEW

Wilson Reading System (WRS) is a highly-structured remedial program that directly teaches the structure of the language to students and adults who have been unable to learn with other teaching strategies, or who may require multi-sensory language instruction. Appropriate for students in grade 2 and beyond, WRS is widely used with notable success in schools, clinics and adult education classes, family literacy programs and correctional facilities.

Program Highlights:

- Wilson courses and certification programs are accredited by the International Dyslexia Association
- Provides a systematic and cumulative approach to teach total word structure for decoding and encoding
- Follows a ten-part lesson plan that addresses decoding, encoding, oral reading fluency, and comprehension in a sensible and logical fashion
- Aids teachers by making all instruction multisensory and interactive, uses a unique “sound tapping” system
- Has one of the most extensive collections of controlled and decodable text (word lists, sentences, stories) for students beyond the primary grades
- Provides two levels of vocabulary, making this program appropriate for students in elementary, middle, and high school, as well as adults
